Canyon, Texas

Wednesday, July 6, 1960

Larry Davis of Darrouzett completes a spider web in the house of Witch Hex for the production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" which opens Thursday at 8:15 p. m. in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College. Six Canyon youths and one from Muleshoe will play the roles of the dwarfs in the happy fairy tale directed by William A. Moore. Performances are also scheduled Friday and Saturday nights.

'Snow White' Play To Start Thursday

The gaiety and excitement of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," in a more modern version than the Walt Disney production, will be renewed for adults and children Thursday in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College.

The fanciful fairy tale will be presented by the Palo Duro Players for three nights, with curtain time at 8:15.

Director will be William A. Moore, and admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Assisting Moore will be Ed McPherson of Masterson as technical director.

Sets and costumes for the show will be designed by Erin Wertenberger of Hereford, and stage manager will be Gary Wyatt of Dimmitt. Archie Cain of Dalhart will be properties manager; music will be by WAM Moore; vocal coach will be Marian Forbau of Canyon. Publicity chairman is Judy Hatley of Phillips, and dance director will be Patti Fultz of Amarillo, assisted by Rosalie Hurt of El Paso.

The seven dwarfs will be played by seven youngsters, including John Brantley as Doc, John Harper as Grumpy, Jackie Parker of Muleshoe as Sneezy, Kenneth Hammon as Sleepy, Tommy Langston as Happy, Norman Langston as Bashful, and Mark Olson as Dopey.

Playing the role of Princess Snow White will be Rena Aikens of Amarillo, and Marti Hinson of Groom will appear as the witch Hex. Prince Florimond will be Erin Wertenberger of Hereford, and Queen Brangomar will be played by Jenny Lynn Massad of Spearman.

Bonnie Scott of Amarillo appears as the peddler woman.

Aero Workshop To Feature Trip

A field trip by military aircraft to visit Air Force installations will again be a special feature of the annual Aero-Space Workshop which opens Tuesday at West Texas State College.

With a limited enrollment of 40, the three-weeks workshop, directed by Dr. Kenneth W. Waugh, associate professor of education, is designed to give elementary and high school teachers a general background in aviation and an understanding of the air and space age. It is sponsored by the WT education department, Civil Air Patrol, Texas Aeronautics Commission, and the United States Air Force.

Teachers enrolled may earn three semester hours of graduate college credit, and classes will meet daily from 9 a.m. until noon, with field trips and laboratory sessions each afternoon. Classes will meet at the Canyon elementary school.

Dr. Waugh said that the major field trip will be to such Air Force bases as Randolph Field and Carswell Air Force Base. There will also be participation in a simulated search and rescue mission over Palo Duro Canyon with CAP aircraft, orientation flights, and visits to jet and missile schools, Amarillo Air Terminal control tower, weather station, and the SAC unit.

Among speakers for the workshop will be George Haddaway, publisher of Flight Magazine; Dr. Leslie L. Thomason, director of air age education for Cessna Aircraft Company; W. Bruce Chambers, regional representative of the Federal Aviation Agency; Dr. Fred Jonah, research engineer for Chance Vought; and Capt. E. J. Stevens of the Air Force Academy.

WT Registration To Begin Tuesday

Registration for the second term of the summer session at West Texas State College has been scheduled for Tuesday, and class instruction will start Wednesday.

Among events scheduled during the second term are the eighth annual West Texas Music Camp, July 31-August 12 and the eighth annual Reading Conference, sponsored by the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading, July 26-28.

A high school speech workshop is slated July 17-30, and continuing during the second term is the National Science Foundation Summer Institute and summer theater season of the Palo Duro Players.

Summer session closes August 19 with final examinations and summer convocation.

Construction in 1960 to Top That of All Previous Years

A record-shattering year of new construction is in store for Canyon, a check of the city building permits reveal.

Permits show that construction at the end of the first six months of 1960 totals nearly $2 million.

Most of this construction, however, began in 1959, but building permits were not taken out until February.

Two dormitories and an addition to the Student Union Building at West Texas State College caused the big boost in the value of construction. Although the college buildings were started last fall, permits were issued for the construction February 22 of this year.

Tops Record Year

The total value of construction, according to the permits, is $1,941,633, as of June 30.

Biggest permit year on record is 1956, when over $1,900,000 worth of new construction was started.

Construction of the college buildings, according to the permits, is to cost the state $1,365,532.

This means that about $675,000 worth of new construction—predominantly new homes—has been started this year.

37 Permits for Homes

City Manager Herschell Stevens has issued 37 permits for new homes. They were to be constructed or moved in.

An additional 19 homes were added to, repaired, or improved. Another seven permits were issued for commercial construction, including the erection of two apartment houses and one store.

Although February was mainly a month of ice and snow, it led in the amount issued for construction. Slowest month was January, another month of severe cold weather.

The months and the amount of construction permits issued are: January, $69,550; February, $1,414,557; March, $131,985; April, $73,920; May, $167,700; and June, $83,921.

Construction figures for previous years include: 1954, $1.6 million; 1955, $1 million; 1956, $1.9 million; 1957, $8 million; 1958, $1.8 million, and 1959, $6 million.

1 Game Forfeited In Babe Ruth Play

One game was forfeited and three were played in the Babe Ruth League last week.

Monday night the White Sox did not have enough players and had to forfeit to the Cardinals.

Tuesday night the Pirates whipped the White Sox, 8-5, the Giants downed the Cardinals, 13-2, Thursday night, and Saturday night the Cardinals beat the Pirates, 22-14.

Last week's Little League scores were not available.

Canyon Receives 3 Inches of Rain

A general, soaking rain, which descended on the area last weekend, has all but assured Randall County farmers of a record grain sorghum crop to go with the excellent harvest of wheat in the county.

Rains started Sunday night, breaking the back of a heat wave which gripped the Panhandle. Low hanging clouds and mist clung to the area Wednesday morning.

By 8 a.m. Wednesday, the unseasonable weather had brought nearly three inches of rain to Canyon. Reported measurements varied from about two inches upwards to three and one-half inches.

Downtown Canyon caught .50 inches Sunday night, a drenching 2.35 inches Monday night, and 12 inches Tuesday and Wednesday night for a total of 2.97 inches.

The rain came at a favorable time for farmers. Wheat harvest is complete except for some scattered fields, and grain sorghum planting has been completed. Much of the maize in the area is up.

Lawn enthusiasts face the biggest problems. Their never-ending battle with weeds must continue.

Irrigation League Takes Tilt, 6-5

An unearned run in the bottom of the ninth inning broke a tie ball game and gave the Irrigation League All-Stars a 6-5 victory over the Caprock League All-Stars.

The game was played Saturday night at Babe Ruth Park.

Joe Albracht of Umbarger, playing for the Irrigation League, reached first on an error, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on a hit to break the tie.

Delvin Howard of Canyon belted a home run over right field fence in the fifth to tie the game, 5-5.

August 1 Set As Date For Owner Change

Sale of The Canyon News was announced this week by Arthur C. Haley, Jr., majority owner and publisher.

Haley and Charles R. Hillier have sold the newspaper to Troy Martin of Olton, former owner and publisher of The Olton Enterprise. Martin will assume control of The News on August 1, Haley said.

Haley has been publisher of The News since August 1, 1955, when he purchased the interest of Clyde W. Warwick, owner and publisher of the newspaper for 45 years.

Haley to Stay Here

Hillier bought a 15 percent interest in the paper in 1951 and retained that interest until the present sale.

Haley will continue in the printing business in Canyon. He has retained the office supply department and commercial printing shop and will continue to do business at 1513 Fourth Avenue.

Hillier has not announced his plans for the future.

Editor Oscar Griffin also has not announced future plans.

Oldest Business

The Canyon News is the oldest business institution in Canyon. It was established in 1896 by Mrs. R. W. Morgan, and the newspaper was called The Stayer. Mrs. Morgan sold out to George A. Brandon in 1902, and Brandon changed the name to The Canyon City News.

The paper was sold to C. O. Keiser in 1908, and R. A. Terrill was editor for a year. At that time, the name was changed again—this time to The Randall County News.

In 1911, Warwick purchased a quarter interest in the publishing company. Two years later, the company was incorporated and Keiser sold his remaining three-quarter interest to Mrs. Keiser, Oscar Hunt, and J. W. Reid.

In October, 1920, Warwick purchased all of the stock and was sole owner until he sold a third interest to Haley in 1947. Warwick renamed the paper The Canyon News in 1925.

Stayer Had Competition

Even before The Stayer was established, there was a newspaper in Canyon. The Canyon City Echo was published from 1889 to 1902 by Wesley Engell. Engell left, and J. B. Younger moved here to publish The Keystone, which lasted 18 months.

J. R. Gaut purchased Younger's

New home construction in the southeast section of the city is booming. These two new homes under construction on Tenth Avenue are typical of the sizzling pace home-building is setting in that part of town. There are between 10 and 15 new homes under construction in that section alone. Thus far this year, building permits have been issued for the erection or the moving in of at least 37 new homes. During 1959, 58 new homes were built or moved into the city. Construction inside the city limits nearly reached the $2 million during the first six months of the year.

W. J. Flesher, left, who was appointed county judge after the resignation of Roy Joe Stevens, signs the official papers after swearing in Wayland C. Angel, right, as county judge Tuesday morning. Angel, a Randall County farmer, was elected to the position in the Democratic runoff June 4.

Too Little to Gain

The proposed rate of 28.35 cents per 1,000 gallons of water, offered to Hereford under the Canadian River dam organization, seems to have pretty well stopped negotiations along any line of probable participation on part of this community.

Hereford, in the first place, now sells and delivers water as low as 13 cents-per-1,000 gallons for treated water, and participation in the Canadian River movement would sky-rocket present city water prices around 40 percent.

Because Hereford has no immediate water problem, our participation in the program would necessarily be one of general cooperation, and long range in nature. It would mean that our three city wells might leave additional water underground for irrigation use in years to come; also that the present supply would be supplemented by a dependable source. The water now used in the city would, of course, count up during the next 20 or 25 years.

On the other hand, when and if the irrigation levels drop so low that three of four city wells will make any tremendous difference, it is safe to say that the population of the town will thin down to the point where a water supply is no longer the problem we face even today.

Frankly, it seems to us that the river authority has priced Hereford out of the program. Whether by good reason, or otherwise, there appears little excuse for Hereford water costs to outdistance other proposed communities by such a large margin.

Nor is it likely that consumption of local water reserves would be extensively averted in case Hereford did pay the 28.35 cents and go into the program. Faced with such a water rate, present and future industries would, no doubt, sink their own wells and produce their own water at a much lower figure. At the 28.35 cent rate, the City of Hereford would no doubt, consume the minimum amounts contracted, then switch back to present city wells for most of the supply. These factors, needless to say, would eliminate water conservation even before it started.

In fact, the way we see it, the only possible result from Hereford's joining the river distribution system would be that of increasing our present water rates from 3 to 5 cents per 1,000 gallons — and this is a fairly expensive way to help one's neighbors. Had the cost been lower, or even in line with our present rates, the story would naturally been different.

Hereford is in a peculiar position on this particular question. We can always use more water, but we are not particularly "hurting" on the present supply. Our position is rather like a man with $100,000 in the bank who, when he needs $5,000, goes to the bank and makes a $5,000 loan at a stiff interest rate, rather than draw from his checking account.

The day could come when we would be sorry, but it seems to us, that entrance into the Canadian River water group would be a mistake. The reason: Too little to gain at too great a cost.

Self-Support in Sugar

Importance of assuring our own sugar resources against war contingency was stressed by James Witherspoon of Deaf Smith County, president of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association, reports Fred Pass, farm editor of The News. Most important in that is the fact that it can be done, the point overlooked by most commentators discussing our threat to cut Cuban sugar imports and Castro's to lay an embargo on sugar to us.

Castro has said that we cannot afford to stop buying Cuban sugar. A number of news writers have said the same thing. All of them overlook our ability to produce.

This country was once a large sugar-producing country. This production was cut down primarily by artificial favoritism to Cuba. Colorado and some other Western States have a vast potentiality for sugar beet production. Louisiana has resources for cane sugar production, has protested Cuban quotas for years. The most prosperous crop ever grown in Texas was cane for sugar production. The most prosperous farming area of antebellum days was along the coast in the vicinity of Wharton and Fort Bend Counties where sugar built most of Texas' early fortunes. The fine old plantation homes, many of which stand today as points of historic interest, were largely built by sugar, not cotton.

With our warehouses bursting with cotton, wheat, and other agricultural products, it seems that an expansion of sugar acreage might be a healthful development in our economy. There is an important point in the argument of Mr. Witherspoon that, for defense purposes, the United States ought to be independent in this matter of a food as important as sugar.

Castro today thinks he is sitting pretty, that he can turn on or off the economic spigot to his own profit. But if he can't sell his sugar and can't buy oil, that resolves itself into wishful thinking that will not work.

All for Naught?

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has introduced a new oval-shaped telephone for their users.

According to the information given out, engineers spent five years shaving off seven inches on the dimensions of the telephone.

Most telephone users are grateful to Bell Telephone for their advanced research on such things as the design of phones, but would just as soon some of that research money would be used to improve service.

And good telephone service is still one thing which Canyon is sorely lacking.

One telephone subscriber recently waited 23 rings of the phone for the long distance operator before giving up in disgust.

Another time a couple was awakened at 1:30 a.m. by the long distance operator, who had just completed a call they had cancelled four hours earlier.

These are just two examples which have been called to our attention recently. No doubt there are some who could cite much worse examples.

It seems that a company which spends millions each year on advertising, public relations, etc., would know that all is for naught if the service is terrible.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Bascom Nelson in the Castro County News: Civic progress is often wrapped in a disguising cloak that keeps the effects of such progress from being fully realized until they have been in effect for some time.

One such item of progress which is probably not fully realized by the people of Dimmitt is the proposed country club.

What this country club can do for the city of Dimmitt and the surrounding territory is too easy to underestimate. Many people who weigh their civic pride in the balance with their coveted possession of the $500 membership fee are apt to let their civic pride go to pot and keep the $500.

However, here is one chance for the people of Dimmitt to help themselves and their neighbors to a better community and at the same time have a lot of fun doing it. Dimmitt is rapidly gaining many recreational facilities, making it the envy of many other communities.

Right now you can play tennis, basketball, volleyball, baseball, softball, bowl, swim and go to the movies on the finest scale of any medium-sized town in the Panhandle or South Plains. With a country club featuring the additional advantages of a fishing pond, club house, and golf course, the people of Dimmitt and the surrounding area would have no trouble enjoying themselves in their spare time. By also featuring tennis courts and another swimming pool, a country club would take much of the pressure off the publicly owned sports facilities in Dimmitt.

The people who have purchased memberships in the country club are enthusiastic about the project. Persons whose income is modest can join the organization through a time payment plan if they don't mind going into debt a bit for some classy living.

As a long-time proposition, we believe the Country Club idea is about the best "not absolutely essential" investment an individual can make—both for himself and his community.

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich H. Kulze are back from a visit in Little Rock with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cargile, who in turn had just spent a few days in Texas on their way home from a vacation. They were much taken with a filling station man in Amarillo.

The wind had been blowing all day, and Mr. Cargile had asked the man: "Does the wind blow this way all the time?"

"Well," said the man, "sometimes it blows in the other direction."

The Cargiles have been short-changed.

The proper answer to that question is: "Well, sometimes it blows like this for a day or two, and then it changes around to the southwest and blows like heck for awhile."

Columnist Hits Night Club Humor, Disrespect for Other Man's Rights

By BOYCE HOUSE

The so-called smart, sophisticated humor of the New York City night clubs isn't difficult to produce. For example, if you see a sign proclaiming, "Our Bread Un-touched by Human Hands," you can quip, "Baked by apes, I suppose?" Or if a restaurant announces, "We make our own pies," you could remark brightly to the proprietor, "That makes it easy for the customer to fix the responsibility, doesn't it?"

Or if you have just finished making a speech, the club president can say, "This was the largest crowd since I've been president—three weeks."

The night club brand of humor is fundamentally cruel.

Like all newspapermen, I dislike writing letters but have exchanged them with Carl Sandburg, Rex Beach, Dr. Frederick Cook, and W. J. Bryan. There's a foursome! Sandburg is, in my opinion, the foremost living American author; Beach wrote exciting novels of Alaska; Bryan was the greatest orator of his generation; and Cook claimed to have discovered the North Pole and to have been the first to climb Mount McKinley.

It was late at night in a leading hotel. Two men were carrying on an animated conversation with the door open into the hall. Their voices penetrated through the closed door of the opposite room where the occupant who was paying a neat sum for a night's rest tossed sleeplessly. He had left a call for 6 a.m. and it was past midnight before the talking two quit.

A little incident, you say, and not worth setting down. And you are correct except for this — it shows what's the matter with the world. There are too many people who never think of the other man, his comfort, his rights, or, if they do, they just plain don't give a darn.

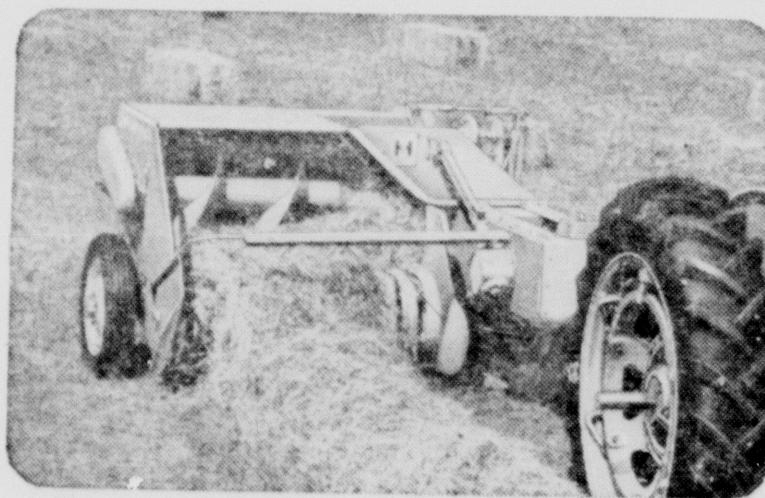

This-and-that: Dr. H. E. Robinson of the Texas Education is an orator — and you can't hardly find that kind any more.

In San Antonio, there's a place of business with a sign, "Our motto is caveat emptor." Well, you got to admit, they told you. Pat Bullock of Colorado City has one of the most difficult offices there is. The former Senator, as a member of the State Pardon and Parole Board, hears many pathetic pleas.

Was San Antonio the last city in the country with a town-crier? As recently as the 1920's, a man rode around the business district on a horse, calling out about the baseball game that afternoon or a sale in progress at a store—or so I was told by a long-time resident of the Alamo City.

Washington Report

IF

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

Almost any youngster will vouch for the fact that "if" is a mighty big word. That one syllable can pack more meaning and importance than the most ponderous and lengthy words in our language. And this lesson has not lost its meaning on Americans, for we have saved ourselves a great deal of unnecessary difficulty by refusing — as one of our proverbs has it — to "cross that bridge until we come to it." For "if" can bring into play countless numbers of vague and worrisome possibilities which are senseless to pursue. But in the field of foreign policy, it is becoming more and more clear that a greater willingness to consider "if" has enabled the Soviet Union to reap large dividends. Our dislike for ambiguity has found us unprepared for a number of the world crises which the USSR has exploited successfully. And the most unpleasant feature of this tendency in our diplomacy is the fact that many of these crucial international events could have been anticipated.

Potential Trouble Spots

At this moment, even the most unpracticed eye can find several potential trouble spots in the world, and yet we offer little or no indication that we have any sort of plan to deal with them and to counter Communist influence. Here are a few of the more obvious indications of future trouble, designed as a quiz for the Department of State:

1. Do we have any plan of diplomatic action if ties between the Soviet Union and Cuba become closer after the visit of Khrushchev to our Caribbean neighbor in the near future?

2. What means would we employ to continue access to West Berlin if the Soviet Union signed a separate peace treaty with East Germany and thereby sought to isolate West Berlin?

3. How would we act to prevent a collapse of our East Asian defense perimeter if the present Japanese government should be replaced by a Socialist-Communist one which sought to repudiate the security treaty?

4. If a revolt occurred in an Eastern European satellite nation, such as the one which occurred in Hungary, would our attitude be any more imaginative than the one adopted in that case?

5. Do we have any broad, long range plans — other than haphazard give-away programs — for achieving support of the vast neutralist nations of Africa and Asia?

6. How would we approach further turmoil if it exploded in the Middle East between the Arab League and Israel and how would we prevent any possible incursions by the Communist bloc?

7. Have we even contemplated any changes in our efforts at home if the Soviet Union should achieve economic equality with the United States?

Questions Not Answered?

Unfortunately, there is little evidence that these questions have been answered. It appears that we have been answering questions of equal severity in the past while being pressed by the heat of necessity. This is not to say that our State Department has not prepared plans of action in the event the several "IF" situations should develop. If there are such plans of action, it is understandable that they could not be made public in advance.

However, there should be advance information conveyed to those who have the power of creating such situations. This advance information should be to the effect that this country has given thought to these possibilities, has prepared and developed an effective plan to cope therewith, and will have no hesitancy in bringing it into play.

This would not only improve our chances of preserving and bettering our prestige in the eyes of other nations, but it would also serve to discourage the ambitions of totalitarian nations and reduce their opportunities for the bluff and bluster technique. A firm, tough-minded policy would, in my opinion, be much more effective than the policy of mildness which has been pursued in an apparent effort to try to please all men in all things.

This is always a good world to the man who does good work in his chosen field.

Fast, efficient soil preparation and row crop cultivation

The Farmhand HARROWEEDER with unique VIBRACOIL ACTION

THE HARROWEEDER is a dual-purpose machine... an amazingly efficient harrow and a fast row-crop cultivator that beats anything ever used in corn, soybeans, cotton, small grains, sorghums and sugar beets. Here, from one dependable unit, you get the speed and efficiency that pays off in more bushels, cleaner fields, less time spent in the field.

THE EXCLUSIVE "vibracoil" action of the specially tempered coil-spring teeth penetrates deeper, turns soil up from underneath, preserves sub-soil moisture. The Harroweeder is available in 15 to 55 ft. widths, and it quickly folds to 7 ft. for easy transport.

only in the newspaper . . .

. . . is there such a great reliance for shopping and buying information. Only in the newspaper does advertising share this reliance.

Dozens of independent surveys show that customers rely on newspapers five, ten and even 20 times more than on any other media.

And in this market, more families rely on this newspaper for shopping information than on all other forms of communication combined.

No Fishing Tags Leads Violations

AUSTIN—Too many fishermen still think they can get by without a license, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Last month 176 persons paid fines for failure to buy their $2.15 fishing license. This license is required for all persons who fish with rod and reel, except those under 17 and over 65. Persons fishing outside their home counties also need a license.

In all, there were 272 violations in May, with a total of $5,197.74 collected in fines and costs.

A number of arrests also were made for killing game out of season. Several were caught shooting doves, quail, ducks, and deer.

Two others were caught "telephoning" for fish, which is the illegal use of an electrical device for shocking fish.

Current fishing licenses will be valid until September 1, when a new license will be required.

The 1960-61 hunting license has been revised and the new licenses will be placed on sale September 1. The new license has been devised to provide a better record of sales and to facilitate handling of the licenses by license deputies.

Stubble Mulching Advantages Told

Stubble mulching has advantages in the long time farming programs in the High Plains that outweigh the immediate and temporary gains from burning the wheat stubble. Delbert Langford, associate agronomist at the High Plains Research Foundation, said recently.

The advantages of plowing under the stubble are (1) maintaining the organic matter content of the soil which facilitates water penetration by improving the tilth and structure of the soil; (2) returning plant food to the soil; (3) better aeration of the soil; and (4) prevention of diseases.

Temporary advantages of burning are (1) killing weeds, (2) killing insects, (3) immediate effect of released potash, and (4) double cropping.

Research tests have shown that burning stubble for a period of five years results in a considerable reduction in wheat yields as well as crops used in rotation. The loss in production from continuous burning of stubble over a period of time is very high.

I'd like to tell you about a brand-new telephone. It's called the Princess phone, and it is being introduced to the public for the very first time this month in towns we serve throughout the state.

How do you like the new look? Notice the oval base and smart styling. You might say the Princess looks regal.

I feel sure a number of you will want one or more of these lovely little phones. I'd like to tell you about the Princess' main features, because it's not very often I get a chance to write about something as exciting as this new phone.

First, it's little. Only 8½ inches long and 3½ inches high and wide, the Princess phone takes so little space on a living room table, a kitchen counter or bedside table.

Next, the Princess is lovely, in styling and in colors. It comes in the most lighthearted pastels I've seen in a long time—blue, beige, pink and turquoise—plus white.

Finally, the Princess phone lights up. The dial glows softly at night, lights up brightly when you lift the receiver.

Why not be among the first here to order a new Princess phone? Just call us at the telephone business office or see your telephone serviceman.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The burning of wheat stubble is one of the most costly things that can happen to a wheat field.

Crop residue in the form of wheat stubble worked into the top four to six inches of the soil is one of the best ways of: 1) improving the condition of the soil, 2) preventing crusting and washing from hard showers, and 3) helping hold down wind erosion damage.

Soils in good condition, besides resulting in good tilth, acts as a storehouse for the plant nutrients, air, and moisture necessary for the growth of both plants and soil micro-organisms. When crop residues are burned, plant nutrients are not only destroyed but soil micro-organisms are killed. Plant foods lost as a result of burning would be an additional cost if they were bought.

With a mulch of wheat stubble in the field the impact of the falling rain drop will be reduced, resulting in less destruction of soil structure and less crusting. A destruction of the soil structure and crusting will cause the air supply in the soil necessary for plant and micro-organisms growth to be shut off.

Crusting will reduce the amount of moisture taken into the soil and increase the amount of tillage operations necessary to prevent blowing damage.

On the other hand, stubble mulch tends to reduce run-off from showers and reduce evaporation of soil moisture.

The supervisors of Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District believe you will benefit most if some wheat stubble is worked into the top soil and some is left on the surface.

Activities and New Facilities Show City Club's Prosperity

By BOB TAYLOR

After 54 years of ups and downs, good times and bad, the Canyon City Club is enjoying a period of prosperity.

The club, located northwest of town off the Hereford Highway, now has a nine-hole golf course with grass greens, a swimming pool, cabin sites, picnic areas, and construction is nearly completed on two new buildings—a bath house beside the pool and a new club house.

The club has not always had so many facilities nor so many activities.

According to Dr. H. A. Brown, a resident of Canyon for 40 years and a past president of the City Club, about 20 of the area "old-timers" got together in 1906 and organized the Canyon City Club. They first leased the land and then the next year "all chipped in and bought it." This land consisted of almost half a section.

Fished A Lot

In the earliest days, club members used the grounds for picnics and fishing.

"There used to be a lot of springs along the creek out there," Dr. Brown said, "and they kept the creek full of water all the time. We'd have picnics down by the creek and do a lot of fishing. The fishing was good then."

Often, after picnicking all day, these early clubbers would spread pallets on the floor of the club house or in one of the two cabins there and spend the night. Then the men would get up and catch some fish for breakfast, while the children climbed trees and helped the women gather wild grapes.

Golf Started in '24

After the first golf course was put in at the club "about 1924," over half of the membership began playing the game. This course had 18 holes with sand greens, nine on the rim of the canyon and nine in the bottom.

"We had some pretty hot golf matches then," Dr. Brown said. "We played in the Wheatland Golf Tournament, made up of Borger, Amarillo, Vega, Canyon, Hereford, Happy, Tulia, Plainview, Lubbock, and Clovis."

"We'd play 36 holes every Sunday and then have an elimination tournament at the end of the season to pick the team to represent the club. We played the other towns to find out who was best."

"The Canyon team usually was pretty strong, but we never won the tournament. The year I played we beat every town but Amarillo."

During the depression the membership fell off, and no one used the club much.

$25 Yearly Dues

"There were only about 10 of us who kept the thing going," Dr. Brown said. "There wasn't much activity then, and the members didn't come out much. Dues were down to around $25 a year, which wasn't enough. We chipped in the extra out of our pockets."

During this time of inactivity, the club was available for the use of organizations, whether any of their members belonged to the club or not, according to Dan Sanders, past secretary of the club.

"Since nobody was using the club grounds much, we let organizations have picnics there for a fee," Sanders said. "Quite a few took advantage of the opportunity. I remember the dairy association used to have its annual picnics there and some oil company used it every year."

Vote Not To Sell

Hard times for the club continued. In January of 1940 some of the members recommended that the club grounds be sold to the Boy Scouts of America to be made into a camp. The stockholders voted 20-5 not to sell, according to the club's records.

Since the club was having trouble getting a keeper and the weeds and sunflowers were beginning to overrun the grounds, the club grounds were leased for sheep pasture in 1942, Sanders said.

"This served a good purpose for both the club and the sheep owners," Sanders said. "The sheep cleaned the weeds out and kept the creek clean."

$50,000 Offered

In 1946 the club's board of directors again discussed the possibility of selling the club. This time they had been offered $50,000 for it by a group of Amarillo men. The plan was again defeated because "the club was the only thing left on the creek for the citizens of Canyon," Sanders said.

Things began to improve before long for the club, and in 1947 the board decided to restore the bottom nine holes of the golf course, clean the club house, and build a kitchen. In 1953 the sheep were moved from the club grounds.

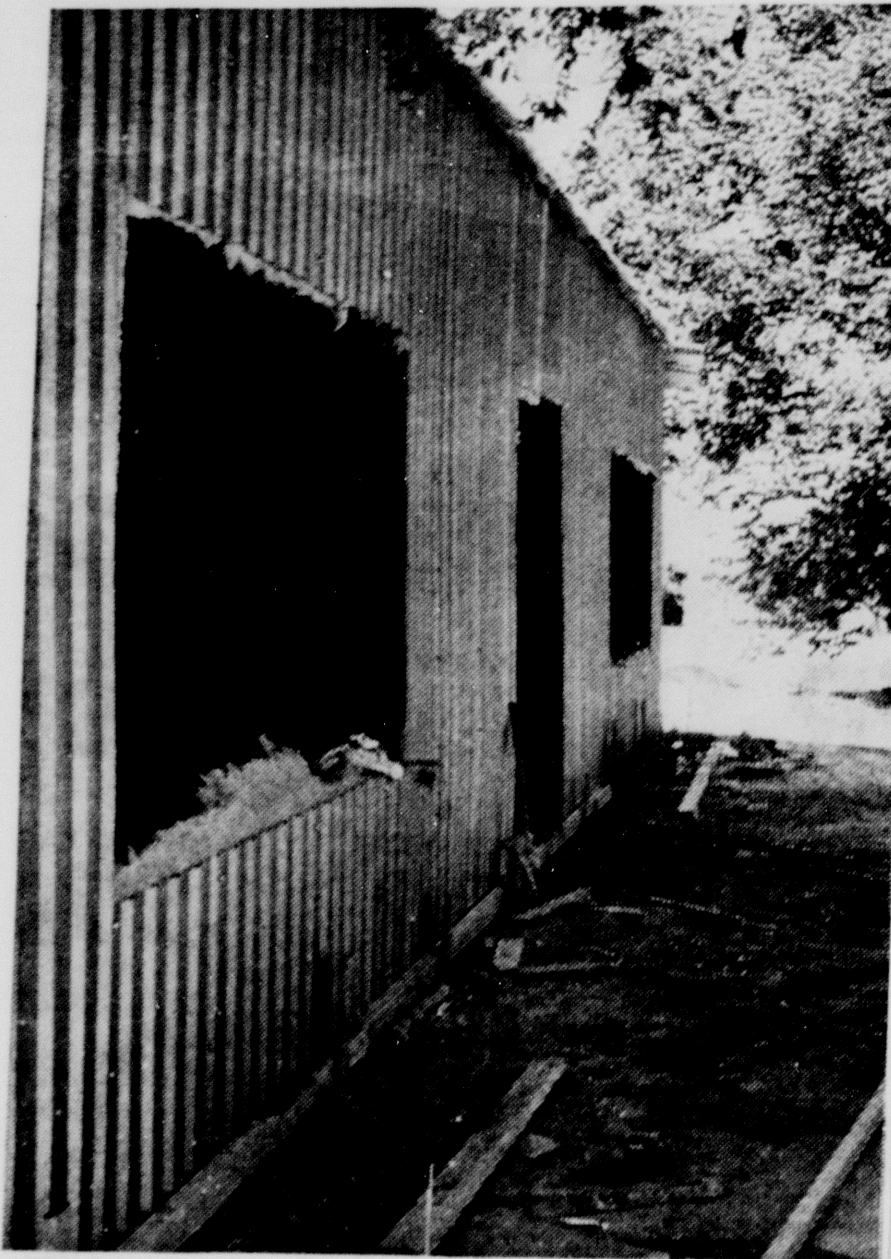

The club was re-chartered and incorporated in 1956, its 50th anniversary, according to Roland Black, who was secretary at that time. The original charter was for 100 members, but the re-chartering provided for 120. Black said that all 120 memberships are taken and there is a waiting list.

Swim Pool Voted

The next year the stockholders approved the building of a swimming pool by a vote of 40-6. This was a case of the third time being a charm since pools were planned in 1930 and 1949 but were never built.

Now the two new buildings are nearing completion. The 12 by 64 foot bath house is being built at the edge of the pool and the 25 by 48 foot club house is farther up the hill.

"Work on the buildings will be finished in a week or so," Carroll Vaughan said. "Our next project will be the selling of associate shares. Then we will be able to close the golf course to the public."

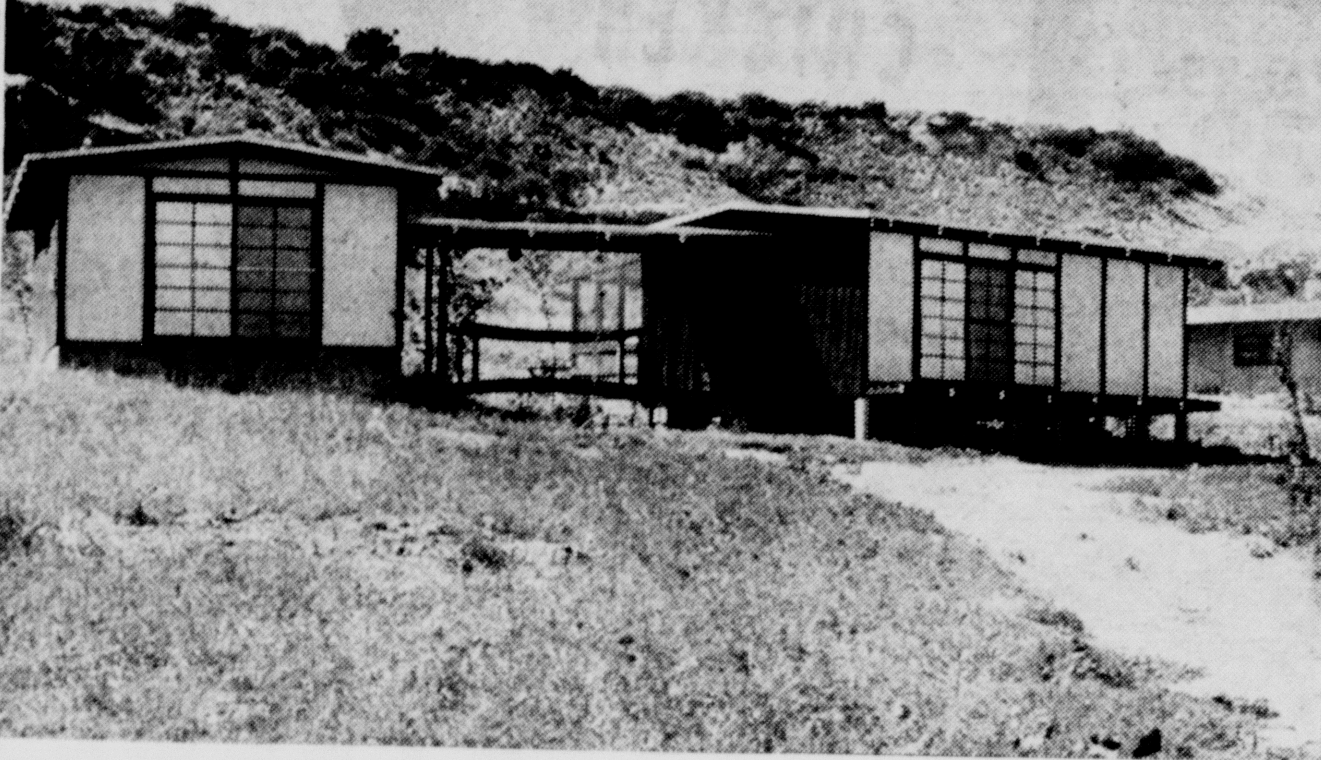

The latest signs of progress at Canyon City Club are two nearly completed buildings, the new club house, shown above, and a bath house beside the swimming pool. Organized in 1906, the club has seen many years of inactivity and disinterest as well as years of prosperity and activity like the present.

Some members of the Canyon City Club have built cabins on sites overlooking the club's nine-hole golf course. This cabin, owned by Dr. Ralph Citron of Amarillo, shows a definite Oriental influence in its design. Besides the golf course, the club provides members with a swimming pool and picnicking areas.

Former WT Prof Gets Army Medal

Lt. Colonel Edward Dreiss, a former professor of military science and tactics at West Texas State College, has been awarded the U. S. Army Commendation Medal.

Colonel Dreiss was cited for outstanding, meritorious service during the period of June 18, 1956, to June 19, 1960, while serving as a member of the staff and faculty of the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

New Stock Law Now in Effect

The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded Texas cattle owners this week that a new law went into effect July 1 aimed at controlling livestock on designated U. S. and state highways.

The new law makes it illegal for a person knowingly to permit his domestic livestock to roam at large and unattended on state and federal highways. It applies regardless of whether or not the highway right-of-way is fenced. Maximum fine for such violation is $200, and each day the violation occurs may be considered a separate offense.

Farm-to-market roads are excepted from the law. The new law also gives law enforcement officers the authority to have such livestock picked up, when unable to locate the owner, and turned over to the sheriff or constable in the county.

The law does not prohibit the driving or herding of livestock across or along highways. It gives peace officers the authority to enforce provisions of the act without a warrant.

Debate Question Workshop Topic

Study and preparation of the 1960-61 high school Interscholastic League debate question will be featured in a two-weeks high school speech workshop, to open July 17 at West Texas State College.

Students attending the workshop also will be given practice and experience in the fields of dramatics, extemporaneous speaking, interpretation, oratory, and other forensics events. Conducting the workshop full time will be Dr. Crannell Tolliver, head of the WT speech department, William A. Moore, director of dramatics, and Dr. C. L. Farr, director of forensics.

Debate question will be "Resolved: That the United Nations Organization Should be Significantly Strengthened." Dr. Tolliver said that the resources of the WT library and from other sources will be used for preparation of material for the debates.

"We are planning for the final day of the workshop to have a team from the WT workshop to debate a team from a similar workshop at Texas Tech," Dr. Tolliver said. "We also plan to have a dramatic production by the students on the final night of the conference."

Exact program for the workshop will depend upon the wishes of the students participating, Dr. Tolliver said. There will be planned recreation, which will include swimming, tennis, other sports, and picnics, he said.

Registration and checking into dormitories will be conducted at 4 p.m. on July 17, and a terrace supper at the home of Dr. Tolliver is planned. Vesper services in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel will be conducted at 8 p.m.

People who look for trouble are blind to their own interests.

WARREN'S

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — When the various states go to battle to capture new industries, other states go in with cannon-sized budgets. But not Texas.

Texas is, by comparison, fighting with a rubber band and spit balls. At least that's the view of the man who heads the Texas effort, Walter E. Dickerson.

Dickerson, as executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, directs himself. He has no staff and no secretary. Legislature allotted him $23,750 a year to do a job for which the neighboring "poor" state of Arkansas spends more than a half-million a year.

Dickerson uses his slim funds for a brochure on Texas and, since out-of-state travel is impossible, long-distance telephoning. He's also seeking additional funds from Texas firms to carry on the work.

Next winter he'll be before the legislature to ask for more money to give Texas an even break in the intensely competitive industry-seeking field.

Dickerson's pleas come against a background of warnings that Texas manufacturing has not been growing fast enough to offset the decline of oil and agriculture. Some areas, such as the Gulf Coast, are becoming highly industrialized, but Texas needs more industry all over, say the economists, if it is to avoid a stall.

More manufacture of products for the Texas consumer market is especially recommended. Dickerson has data showing that Texans send $2,500,000,000 of their money out of state to buy manufactured products.

Dickerson also supports his urging for a beefed-up Industrial Commission with figures showing that new industry is literally "money in the bank" for a town and state.

For each industry with 100 employees—not a particularly big one—bank deposits jump $270,000 and retail sales $360,000 per year.

Business Totals Tumble
Texas' most recent business activity reports are not entirely rosy, either.

Retail trade for May was down two percent from April and four percent from a year ago, according to the University Bureau of Business Research.

Building construction was also in a downward spiral, three percent from April and 11 percent from last year. Building decline between April and May was due to a sharp drop in home building. Non-residential construction was up three percent.

Slow down in retail buying was unexpected, inasmuch as employment, income, and savings are at an all-time high. An increase in home building is hoped for as a result of eased FHA down payment requirements. More home buying would, in turn, stimulate more retail buying, particularly furniture, appliances, and hardware.

Gas Tax Loses Round
Texas' new natural gas severance beneficiary tax flunked its first court test when an Austin district judge ruled it unconstitutional.

Judge Jack Roberts held the tax violated the U. S. Constitution's prohibition against levying a tax on interstate commerce. Severance beneficiary tax is aimed at the natural gas pipeline companies who, the tax's supporters contend, benefit from taking the gas from Texas soil and should pay a tax for these benefits. Most pipelines operate on a national scale. Producers, the people who actually take the gas from the ground, already pay a tax.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, representing the state, said he would appeal Roberts' decision, probably to the Third Court of Civil Appeals. Since the case involves a constitutional question, it could be appealed directly to the State Supreme Court.

Either way, it will not finally be decided until it gets to the U. S. Supreme Court, probably not in time for the next legislature to know whether the state can count on any revenue from that source. Estimated yield is about $7,500,000 a year.

Gov. Price Daniel said he was "keenly disappointed" in the district court decision, especially in that it saw no difference between the severance beneficiary tax and the oil gas gathering tax which lost out in the courts.

Daniel said he was confident this tax eventually would be upheld.

Stray Livestock Law in Force
Farmers are warned to pen up their livestock and keep them penned, or be subject to a $200 fine and impoundment of the animals.

Each day the animals roam at large will be considered a separate offense.

The new law relates to horses, mules, donkeys, cows, bulls, steers, hogs, sheep, and goats loose on state and federal highways. Farm and ranch roads are not included.

An increasing number of deaths and injuries due to auto collisions with stray animals necessitated the law.

Heretofore the motorist was liable.

School Problem Erupts
At the instigation of Texas Commissioner of Education, J. W. Edgar, Brownboro school officials, both board and superintendent, are resigning en masse.

Decision was reached after an involved and rather heated hearing in Austin to review school conflicts that had resulted in a killing at a Brownboro school board meeting.

Homer Bass was appealing his dismissal by the Brownboro school board when his contract as superintendent still had two years to go. Board members charged Bass with instructing teachers how to vote in school board elections, handling school funds carelessly, and failing to meet state accreditation standards.

Several board members said they felt mass resignation was a good solution that would enable the community to start afresh on a peaceable basis.

Bigger Budgets Asked
Three state agencies presented their requests for funds for the September 1, 1961-August 31, 1963 period. All want more than they are now spending.

Legislative and governor's office budget staffs are reviewing the requests of State Health Department, State Board of Insurance, and Texas Employment Commission.
